

AFSVC Input
IMSC Connections eNewsletter
Nov 21

Air Force Runs on Dunkin

The Air Force Services Center (AFSVC) announces the Air Force and United States Space Force exclusive new drip coffee program. AFSVC established a unique program and licensing agreement with JM Smucker allowing the use of simple Dunkin drip coffee within all interested food and beverage operations. Three simple flavors are available; Dunkin Original, Dunkin Dark Roast and Dunkin Decaf, with the hope of additional flavors in the future. AFSVC is already transitioning all Food 2.0 dining facility and kiosk operations to this new program.

Department of the Air Force Gaming League (DAFGL): Global LAN Championship

Air Force Gaming is a featured booth at the Interservice/Industry Training, Simulation and Education Conference (I/ITSEC) in Orlando, FL 28 Nov – 2 Dec 21. Twenty-eight individuals were selected to attend the conference, representing the top gamers across the Department of the Air Force. At I/ITSEC, the top two teams from North America and the top team from the Europe and Asian-Pacific (APAC) regions for Smash Ultimate and Warzone will play on our live stage for the DAFGL Season 2 Championship title. The top eight players will represent Air Force and Space Force at the Call of Duty Endowment (CODE) Bowl, 5 – 11 Dec 21 in New York City, New York.

Welcome Veterans and Dependents to Air Force Gaming

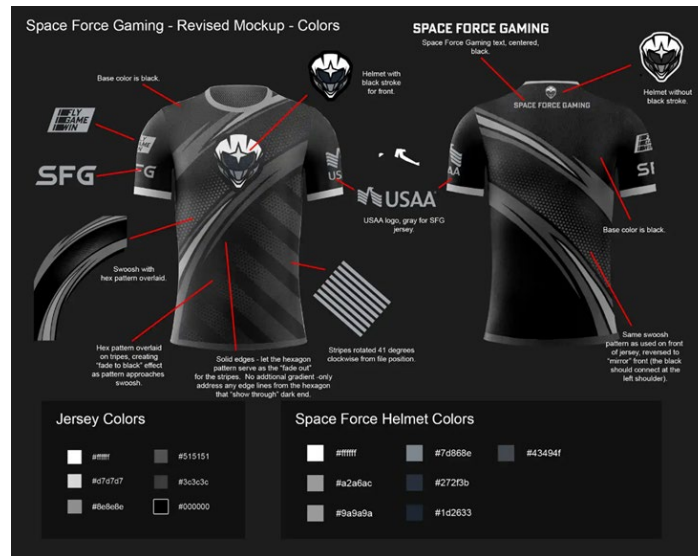

Veterans, adult dependents, cadets, and DoD civilians are now able to create accounts through ID.me on the Air Force Gaming website (www.airforcegaming.com). They will have access to our Discord server, where they'll receive their own dedicated extended community channels to connect with one another and those still serving. Additionally, they will be eligible to participate in most AFG events, including Ambassador-led community events and tournaments! The Air Force Services Center is working to host dedicated events and tournaments for our new friends – very soon.

Introducing Space Force Gaming

Since day one, our Guardians have always been a beloved part of our community. From their historic victory at the 2020 CODE Bowl to the soaring achievements of Space Force Ambassadors like Mike Sullivan, our Guardians have helped us shape Air Force Gaming into what it is today. On 11 Nov 21, one year after the official launch of the Air Force Gaming program, the Air Force Services Center is proud to present our Guardians with a special gift — the official launch of Space Force Gaming.

While we’re not sending our Guardians off into a new website or Discord server, we’ve worked to develop a unique brand for Space Force Gaming that will allow our Guardians to play and compete with true Space Force pride. In all upcoming competitions, including the 2021 CODE Bowl in December 2021, our Guardians will have their own distinct teams, jerseys, uniforms, and signifiers to celebrate their shared, but distinct experiences within Air Force Gaming.

Air Force Services Center Central Program - What’s Cooking?

The Air Force Services Center (AFSVC) is offering a centrally funded cooking program called “What’s Cooking?” This program provides a fun and creative way to highlight the baking and cooking skills within Air Force and Space Force military communities. It can be implemented throughout FY22 and conducted in person or virtually depending on installation COVID-19 restrictions. This program provides the opportunity to partner with other Force Support Squadron (FSS) activities or as a stand-alone event. What’s Cooking? events can be implemented through community centers, hosted by another FSS activities/programs or tied in with a base-wide event.

School Liaison Program MilLife Guide released

The Military One Source App now contains a MilLife Guide for the School Liaison Program. It allows families, leadership and community stakeholders to connect fast to support and answers with 24/7 access to powerful tools and help in your hands, anytime, anywhere. It provides a quick read on PreK-12 Education support along with articles, benefits, tools and connecting with a local PreK-12 education specialist.

DODEA Virtual High School (DVHS) Expanded Eligibility Pilot Program (E2P2) Second Semester Enrollment Begins

The Expanded Eligibility Pilot Program is an enrollment expansion authorized by the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA). Its purpose is to evaluate the feasibility and scalability of a permanent DVHS program after four years and assess the impact of the expanded enrollment on military and family readiness. The pilot is open to military-connected school districts that support remote installations and homeschooled students. It will supplement (not compete with) school districts and private programs. Students in this program may take up to two non-core courses per year (not a full-year program). Eligibility requirements include grades 9-12 dependents of AD, ineligible to enroll in DVHS, and graduation requirements in the current state. The 2nd-semester enrollment information is attached and available through your installation School Liaison Program Manager. Contact Ms. Lori Phipps at DSN 969-1819 or your installation School Liaison Program Manager for additional information.

EXPANDED
ELIGIBILITY FLYER 2nc